Sharon Benjamin

Since Sharon made her singing debut at a country hotel in late 1988 she has been in demand to play at festivals and clubs alike. Since then Sharon has earned a well deserved reputation as one of the hardest working female performers in the Australia.

Sharon released her debut recording Something for Everyone in 1988. It was originally intended for sale at live performances, but radio stations across Australia soon picked it up and gave her songs air time. In 1997 she formed a duo Strike Two with her husband, Mark Hillier. Their debut single Ghost Train remained on the Australian Country Music Charts for over three months.

Sharon's songwriting is constantly earning her recognition, with fellow Artists like Reg Poole choosing to record her songs. Her songs are melodic, heartfelt, relative and honest. Her latest album The Picture is selling well and is a collection of some of the most requested country songs at her live shows.
